O'MY THEATER CORPORATE SUPPORT

O'MyTheater was created, designed, and continues to evolve to meet the needs and desires of our local artistic community. Every aspect of our unique approach prioritizes consideration for affordability, accessibility, and measurable investments toward personal and team growth...plus, we've become like family! In 2012, our Director Cheryl Kewley began volunteering full-time in the classroom to implement a self-designed curriculum that could be administered to an entire school on a tight time/rehearsal schedule with personal study materials provided for each individual to allow personal artistic growth and self-propelled instruction. From the start, the vision to resurrect music and performing arts opportunities depended on community and volunteer support to prepare materials, curriculum, and provide collaborative instruction. Since the first pilot program launched in September 2012, O'MyTheater has provided instruction to more than 10,000 local students, offering a variety of classes spanning many artistic, theatrical, and musical fields.

In 2014, our program received its first grant from the City of Oxnard, and Oxnard's first youth community theater company was born. Networking to manage the most efficient and resourceful budget of operations and depending greatly on volunteer support, our priorities include affordable enrollment, availability in scheduling, and accessibility for our varied demographic population.

Continuing to produce high quality and educationally engaging productions, we are now entering our next season. Being a 501c3 non-profit corporation offers us the advantages of applying for and receiving donations, but it also means we fully rely on the support from our very busy and dedicated team of volunteers. We hope you will consider ways you might be able to help this one-of-a-kind theatrical community develop even further:

- Enroll in our program. Hopefully this is one check off the list!
- Seek and obtain donations...or sharpen your grant writing skills! We can utilize any kind of donation through raffles and concession sales, and are happy to promote sponsors in programs and on our website.
- “Like” and “Share” Word of mouth has proven the most effective marketing strategy to increase awareness and support for our programs. Please help us advertise through e-mail, Facebook, and any other networking connections you may have. Our FREE performances are a great invitation to increase exposure and support!
- Share some time, talent, or treasure. Everyone has a skill or trade that can help! From creating costumes, printing advertisements, and obtaining a venue, to connecting with sound and lighting technicians...we greatly appreciate volunteered time and services. We're all about developing talent, passion, and expanding our networking capabilities!
- Serve on our board. Do you have non-profit experience or want it? We are always looking for business clientele who support performing art education and opportunities for our local youth.
